Buttner then told a little of Hughes' "We had a case," be said, "of a Brooklyn woman who was getting $20 a week alimony. The money was sent to as as her attorneys. When I got the check I would indorse it and turn it over to her. When Hughes got it he would ludorse it, get it cashed, and blow it in. Flannery, the Brooklyn lawyer, got out an order of arrest for him, and I ald out of my pocket $72 to keep him at of jail. He owed me $200 or Sann when we quit, and after that I paid bills I his to keep him out of trouble. Hughes is a man who can't keep money if he gets it. He blows it in. This he modified somewhat by saying: "If Hughes had been arrested I would have known it at once. " The missing man's employer said he had received no letter or communication from him, or did not expect any. "IT'S RATHER STRANGE, continued Lawyer Wade, "that this man Pendleton, who was to have called

It is said Mr. Wade, under the name of Robert A. Wade, is now awaiting trial on an indictment by the grand jury for grand larceny, having defrauded a client named Oseas Getter out of $500. The divorce blanks which Hughes used in making out decrees are believed to have been procured from Mr. John B.

To Be Run in Connection with a Proposed Natatorium at Waco-Result of Local Option Election-

WACO, TEX., Dec. 23 .- The duel between the negro Whittiker and the white youth near China Springs was from all accounts a most desperate affair. The fact that the negro had a grudge againss young Kelley lends importance to the affair, and the investigation will be thorough. Kelley will no doubt recover where he was sitting and paced up from the wound, but the negro will probably die. Great indignation exists in the neighborhood over the dastardly attack on the young man by the negro.

The trial of C. E. Himstedt was one of unusual interest, and a great crowd gathered in the district courtroom last night to hear the concluson, which was reached about 10 o'clock. The jury were only out about thirty minutes when they returned with a verdict of not guilty. Mr. Himstedt is a young man, and has a beautiful young wife who was present at the time the verdict was rendered. The scene was very affecting in-

The mammoth natatorium now under contemplation by Col. R. B. Parrott and vere attac associates in this city will be placed on a sure footing in a few days. The talk Gum now is that a huge incubator will be attucked, and the overworked her will be given a rest. But, serlously, it is contemplated to have attachments arranged for the purpose of hatching eggs by the natural heat of the water with the temperature slightly lowered. This will be in the nature of an experiment, but the theory that the artesian water, which is 103 degrees Fahrenhelt, can be utilized for incubating purposes, seems plausible to a great many people, and there will yards this morning, in which two men be no trouble in getting up capital to start the natatorium with the incubator

The county commissioners' court met yesterday to canvass the vote in the local option election in precinct No. 3, McLennan county. The vote stood: For prohibition, 292; against prohibition, 85. Two boxes were thrown out on account of informalities in the returns, but these were almost unanimous for prohibition.

For all these men there are but two chaplains. Gen. Stanley, commanding the department, thinks the men are not receiving religious training, and has made application to Gen. BAIRD, Tex., Dec. 23.-Christman sports began last night at the hot Sadie Perry. It seems that a crowd had gathered there for a merry beginning to Christmas, and during the time they were there some of them got on the warpath and proceeded to use the traditional six shooter. Several shots were fired and Sadie herself came out second best, being shot under the left arm. She is resting well to-day. Ike Godwin was charged with shooting her and fled when the shooting, which is supposed to be accidental, was done, but he came in and gave himself up and will have his trial before Justice Kane.

Wheat Opened Weak, Finctuated Narrowly and Closed at a Pecline-Coffee and Wool Markets Unchanged.

OFFICE OF THE GAZZTTE,
FORT WORTH, TEX., Dec. 23, 1800. Buyers' day. The people were out again in great numbers.

Daily Kevlew.

Business houses and sidewalks crowded with buyers-not merely lookers on, but with people making purchases. This commenced early and kept up until a late hour. The pleasant weather is being taken advantage of by people from the surrounding country, too, and they were here to-day in armies, and, judging from the number of bundles of various articles, large and small, loaded into the wagons, carriages and buggles, they are a prosperous people and happy.

There was another great run on the general markets to-day, but dealers supplied all wants at the ruling prices. There are no changes of importance to note in quotations, with all commodities firm and steady.

The Cotton Situation. The New York Commercial Bulletin in iu its review of the cotton market says: 'There are operators who can work out some very promising statistical exhibits to show the comparative cheapness of cotton, and how consumption ought to require a proportion fully equal to the increase of crop, even allowing for maxlmum estimates. There may eventually prove to be merit in the figures; but the necessary demand certainly does not exist now, or, possibly more correctly speaking, does not develop, because it is unable to secure the monetary backing to support it. The speculator looks at the nice sure thing existing on the difference between months, and sighs as he appreciates his inability to take advantage of the opportunity, while the domestic spinner and the exporter are restrained from the temptation of investment by the clogging of the channels through which they ordinarily secure the required assistance. Furthermore, previous suggestions are commencing to find some indorse-ment in the matter of supplies, the steady growth of accumulation at primary points becoming more and more burdensome and seeking an outlet under pressure; and though an easing up on money may result in the offering fluding custom, the fear now seems to be that the flew of stock, when first started at least, will prove altogether too free for a market steadily liquidating its speculative long interest and containing a large percentage of "away-back" shorts not likely to become greatly flurried by any ordinary scare efforts. To-day the buyer had the best of the deal, not enough to bring about any radical change in line of cost, yet on the whole showing an absence of any really healthy conditions. Indeed, the general feeling seemed to be one of more or less discouragement over the probabilities of obtaining any immediate infusion of strength, the announced failure of the Druid mills at Baltimore being looked upon as a matter of serious importance while advices from other sources were lacking in encouragement. Liverpool displayed no pluck or strength, inancial news from London was looked upon as discouraging, and the South generally appeared to be urging its cotton with considerable anxiety to find immediate custom. Spots found a very moderate record of sales, and the regular line of uotations remains very much as before. but choice qualities remain scarce and are still commanding quite a fractional
